To whom it may concern:

Dr Friedman :

I am taking the time to write to you because of my deep concern about the proposed labeling of genetically engineered foods. I feel VERY strongly that consumers require all the information possible to be able to make decisions about purchasing products.

Genetic engineering may provide consumers with better products and more choices in the marketplace, but I feel that it is impossible to make the correct decisions for my well-being without having all the information.

I therefore strongly urge that ALL products which contain any genetically engineered material be so labeled in a clear and easy to both see and comprehend fashion.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Janice R. Dowling
